Army Notes.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Newton D. Baker are settling for the season in the large old-fashioned house in Georgetown leased some weeks since from Capt. W. E. P. French, U. S. A. This house, 3017 N street, is situated on a double terrace immediately across the street from the old Dunlop home-stand. For many years after the war it was a fashionable school. The arrangement of the spacious interior is on the basis of solid comfort and the large grounds at the rear are a charming box-bordered garden.

Brig. Gen. Dan C. Kingman, U. S. A., and Mrs. Kingman have returned to their home, 1925 N street, from Atlantic City, where they went early in the summer. Maj. John J. Kingman, U. S. A., and Mrs. Kingman spent some time with their parents at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Biddle, wife of Capt. Biddle, U. S. A., with their three daughters, is spending some time at Fort Totten, N. Y., in order to be with Capt. Biddle during his brief leave before joining the 6th Cavalry in New Mexico.

Col. Haines, U. S. A., and Mrs. Haines are now comfortably established in their new home at the Washington barracks, where the colonel is in command. Col. and Mrs. Haines spent the summer at Old Point Comfort, where the former was on duty prior to coming to this city. Last season Mrs. Haines spent some time in Washington with her sister, who, married to a titled Belgian, came here to give a number of talks upon the industrial situation of her adopted country, and more especially to create a demand for the work of the lace-makers of Belgium. So successful was she in this matter that the Belgian lace-makers have long been famous. In acknowledgment of these valuable services the King of Belgium has made a personal acknowledgment.

Mrs. Henry W. Lawton, widow of Gen. Lawton, U. S. A., has been enjoying a visit from her two sons-in-law and married daughters at her apartment on Euclid street. Lieut. Gerhart, U. S. A., and wife have now returned to Boston, and Mrs. Bagby, wife of Ensign Bagby, U. S. N., has left for a short visit to Philadelphia, but will return and spend the winter with her mother during her husband's absence on sea duty.

Mrs. Sanford Kellogg, widow of Col. Kellogg, U. S. A., has returned spending the season at the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, Va.

Capt. Charles Annesley Romeyn, U. S. A., and Mrs. Romeyn are entertaining at the quarters at Fort Detrick, N. Y., the former's mother, Mrs. Henry Romeyn, who will not return to Washington until Christmas.

Mrs. John M. Stotsenburg and Mrs. G. La T. Collins have returned to Washington after an enjoyable visit to Capt. and Mrs. Romeyn at Fort Ethan Allen.

Mrs. Ellis B. Miller, wife of Capt. Miller, U. S. A., during the absence of her husband in Santo Domingo, will spend the season in Washington. Mrs. Miller has taken an apartment at the Wardman Courts.

Maj. Robert E. Persons, U. S. A., and Mrs. Persons, who were recently the guests of Maj. Robert E. Persons, U. S. A., are in Washington, sailed for Panama on the 20th instant.

Surgeon General Francis W. Gunnell, U. S. N., retired, accompanied by Mrs. Gunnell, has returned to the city and reopened their charming old residence at 600 20th street northwest, where they have with them Mrs. Brooke and Miss Hallie Brooke, wife and daughter of Maj. Brooke, U. S. A., who will return early this month from the Philippines.

Lieut. Charles F. Williams, U. S. A., and Mrs. Williams, are comfortably settled for the winter in their quarters at the Washington barracks.

Col. Stanhope E. Blunt, U. S. A., accompanied by his wife, is spending the autumn at Briarcliff Manor, N. Y.

Lieut. Maxwell Murray, U. S. A., and Mrs. Murray, who recently left for the Michigan Agricultural College, are settled in Lansing, where the lieutenant has been detailed to the college as assistant professor of military science.

Capt. Warren Whitfield, U. S. A., and Mrs. Whitfield are receiving congratulations of their friends upon the awarding of a blue ribbon in the qualified hunter class to their horse Tarry Not, which was one of the successful steeds at the recent Front Royal (Va.) horse show.

Capt. Fred R. Brown, U. S. A., recently serving as major in the Porto Rican regiment of infantry, has come to Washington, having been assigned as assistant to the chief of bureau of insular affairs in this city.

Maj. Stewart, U. S. A., detailed from the Plattsburg (N. Y.) barracks to duty in Washington, has been joined here by Mrs. Stewart.

Col. Stuart, U. S. A., and wife have returned from spending the summer at Altapass, N. C. Miss Mary Stuart will shortly leave for Charleston, S. C., to spend the winter with her grandmother, Mrs. Jervy.

Lieut. George H. Brett, U. S. A., and Mrs. Brett are settled for the season in an apartment at the Cairo, as the former has been detailed to temporary duty in the Aviation Corps. Since their arrival from Coronado they have been the guests of Gen. and Mrs. Devol.

Maj. H. L. Threlkeld, U. S. A., and Mrs. Threlkeld have arrived in Washington from Plattsburg barracks, N. Y.

Mrs. G. H. Gorham, mother of Lieut. G. B. Gorham, U. S. A., has returned to Washington after a visit to Lieut. and Mrs. Gorham at Old Point Comfort, Va.

Maj. F. W. Huntington, U. S. A., is among the recent additions to the numerous officers detailed to duty at the Army Medical School. Maj. Huntington has come to Washington from Plattsburg barracks as professor of roentgenology.

Capt. Frederick W. Coleman, U. S. A., has arrived from Governors Island, N. Y., to assume his new duties in the
